

STOP COLLECTING SKILLS. FINISH ONE.

Twelve weeks.
Seventy-two sessions.
One skill you actually keep.

Most learning fails quietly. You pick four skills, buy three courses, and six weeks later you cannot name a single thing you made. This journal fixes the structure, not your willpower.

Inside is a twelve-week working lab. You choose one skill and score it honestly. You sign a charter with a real time and a real place. Then you run six short sessions a week and log the only thing that matters: exactly where you got stuck, and what you will try next.

WHAT IS INSIDE

- A skill-selection lab that ends the deciding
- A signed charter with a time, a place and a number
- 72 daily lab pages built around a Friction Log
- 12 week briefs and 12 honest week debriefs
- An evidence ledger — proof, not hours
- Resource log, wins log and stuck-to-solved tracker

Pick one skill. Give it twelve weeks.
Everything you need is in here.
